Certain Product Risks

- You may lose up to 100% of your investment. If the Ending Value is less than the Starting Value, you will lose 1% of the principal amount for each 1% that the Ending Value is less than Starting Value.
- The notes do not bear interest.
- Your investment return will be limited to the return represented by the Maximum Redemption Amount.
- Any payment on the notes is subject to our credit risk.
- The public offering price you pay for the notes will exceed their initial estimated value.
- The notes are expected to have limited liquidity.
- The Redemption Amount will not reflect changes in the value of the Market Measure other than on the calculation day.
- Changes in the prices of one or more of the Basket Stocks may be offset by changes in the prices of one or more of the other Basket Stocks.
- The U.S. federal income tax consequences of an investment in the notes are uncertain, and may be adverse to a holder of the notes.

(See "Additional Risk Considerations" on the next page.)

Additional Risk Considerations

- If you attempt to sell notes prior to maturity, their market value, if any, will be affected by various factors that interrelate in complex ways, and their market value may be less than the principal amount.
- You will have no rights as a security holder, you will have no rights to receive any shares of any Basket Stock, and you will not be entitled to dividends or other distributions by the issuer of any Basket Stock.

The risks set forth in the section entitled “Certain Product Risks” on the preceding page and this section “Additional Risk Considerations” are only intended as summaries of some of the risks relating to an investment in the notes. Prior to investing in the notes, you should, in particular, review the “Risk Factors” sections in the preliminary pricing supplement, the product supplement, the prospectus supplement and the prospectus, which set forth important risks related to an investment in the notes.
