Key Terms

Index: The FTSE 100 Index (the "Index")

Payment at Maturity: If the Ending Index Level is greater than the Initial Index Level, you will receive a cash payment that provides you with a return per $1,000 principal amount per Note equal to the Index Return multiplied by two, subject to a Maximum Total Return on the Notes. The Maximum Total Return on the Notes is 14.30%. For example, if the Index Return is 7.15% or more, you will receive the Maximum Total Return on the Note. The Maximum Total Return of 14.30% would entitle you to receive a payment of $1,143 for every $1,000 principal amount per Note that you hold. Accordingly, if the Index Return is positive, your payment per $1,000 principal amount per Note will be calculated as follows, subject to the Maximum Total Return: $1,000 + [($1,000 x (Index Return x 2))]

Your principal investment is protected against a decline in the Index Return up to 10%. If the Ending Index Level is equal to the Initial Index Level or declines from the Initial Index Level by 10% or less, you will receive the principal amount of your Notes at maturity. If the Ending Index Level declines from the Initial Index Level by more than 10%, for every 1% decline of the Index from the Initial Index Level beyond 10% you will lose an amount equal to 1% of the principal amount of your Notes multiplied by 1.1111, and your final payment per $1,000 principal amount per Note will be calculated as follows: $1,000 + ($1,000 x (Index Return + 10%) x 1.1111)

You will lose some or all of your investment at maturity at an accelerated rate of 1.1111 times losses in excess of the 10% buffer if the Ending Index Level declines from the Initial Index Level by more than 10%.

Buffer: 10%

Index Return: The performance of the Index from the Initial Index Level to the Ending Index Level, calculated as follows:

Initial Index Level: 6565.70, the Index closing level on May 11, 2007 (the "Pricing Date").
Ending Index Level: The arithmetic average of the Index closing levels on each of the five Averaging Dates.
Averaging Dates†: Each business day from and including August 11, 2008 to and including August 15, 2008
Maturity Date: August 20, 2008
CUSIP: 59018YD57

Hypothetical Total Return Calculations

The following table and graph illustrate the hypothetical total return at maturity on the Notes. The “total return” as used in this term sheet is the number, expressed as a percentage, that results from comparing (a) the payment at maturity (per $1,000 principal amount Note) either in excess of or less than $1,000 to (b) $1,000. The hypothetical total returns set forth below reflect the Initial Index Level of 6565.70 and the Maximum Total Return on the Notes of 14.30%. The hypothetical total returns set forth below are for illustrative purposes only and are not intended to represent the actual total return that will be received by purchasers of the Notes. The Index closing level as of the close of business on May 11, 2007 was 6565.70. The numbers appearing in the following table, graph and examples have been rounded for ease of analysis.

Examples

The following examples illustrate how the total returns set forth in the table above are calculated, including the Maximum Total Return of 14.30%.

Example 1—The level of the Index increases from an Initial Index Level of 6565.70 to an Ending Index Level of 7878.84. Because the Index Return of 20% multiplied by two exceeds the Maximum Total Return of 14.30%, the investor receives a payment at maturity of $1,143 per $1,000 principal amount Note, the maximum payment on the Notes.

$$$1,000 + [$1,000 \times (20\% \times 2)] = $1,400 = $1,143$$

(Payment at maturity cannot exceed the Maximum Total Return)

Example 2—The level of the Index increases from an Initial Index Level of 6565.70 to an Ending Index Level of 6893.99. Because the Ending Index Level of 6893.99 is greater than the Initial Index Level of 6565.70 and the Index Return of 5% multiplied by two does not exceed the Maximum Total Return of 14.30%, the investor receives a payment at maturity of $1,100 per $1,000 principal amount Note calculated as follows:

$$$1,000 + [$1,000 \times (5\% \times 2)] = $1,100$$

Example 3—The level of the Index decreases from an Initial Index Level of 6565.70 to an Ending Index Level of 5909.13. Because the Ending Index Level of 5909.13 is less than the Initial Index Level by not more than 10% the investor will receive a payment at maturity of $1,000 per $1,000 principal amount Note.

Example 4—The level of the Index decreases from an Initial Index Level of 6565.70 to an Ending Index Level of 4595.99. Because the Ending Index Level is less than the Initial Index Level by more than 10%, the Index Return is negative and the investor receives a payment at maturity of $777.78 per $1,000 principal amount Note.

$$$1,000 + ($1,000 \times (\text{Index Return} + -30\%) \times 1.1111) = $777.78$$

Selected Purchase Considerations

Appreciation Potential: The Notes provide the opportunity to enhance equity returns by multiplying a positive Index Return by two, up to the Maximum Total Return on the Notes. The Maximum Total Return on the Notes is 14.30%. Because the Notes are our senior unsecured debt securities, payment of any amount at maturity is subject to our ability to pay our obligations as they become due.

Limited Protection Against Loss: Payment at maturity of the principal amount of the Notes is protected against a decline in the Ending Index Level, as compared to the Initial Index Level, of up to 10%. If the Ending Index Level declines by more than 10%, for every 1% decline of the Index beyond 10%, you will lose an amount equal to 1.1111% of the principal amount of your Notes.

Composition of the Dow Jones FTSE 100 Index: The FTSE 100 Index is calculated, published and disseminated by FTSE International Limited (“FTSE”), a company owned equally by the London Stock Exchange PLC (the “LSE”) and the Financial Times Limited (the “FT”), in association with the Institute and the Faculty of Actuaries. Publication of the FTSE 100 Index began on January 3, 1984, based on an initial level of the FTSE 100 Index of 1,000 at December 30, 1983. The FTSE 100 Index is a free float adjusted index that measures the composite price performance of stocks of the largest UK 100 companies (determined on the basis of market capitalization) traded on the LSE. The 100 stocks included in the FTSE 100 Index (the “FTSE Underlying Stocks”) are selected from a reference group of stocks trading on the LSE that are in turn selected by excluding certain stocks based on various factors, such as liquidity based on public float and size and number of trading days. The FTSE Underlying Stocks are selected from this reference group by selecting 100 stocks with the largest market value. FTSE can add, delete or substitute the FTSE Underlying Stocks or make other methodological changes that could change the value of the FTSE 100 Index. See “The Index” in the accompanying product supplement no. REN-5.

Tax Treatment: You should review carefully the section entitled “United States Federal Income Taxation” in the accompanying product supplement no. REN-5 and MTN prospectus supplement. The pricing of the Notes is subject to delivery of an opinion of our tax counsel, Sidley Austin LLP, that there exists a reasonable basis to characterize and treat the Notes as pre-paid cash-settled forward contracts linked to the level of the Index for United States federal income tax purposes. The opinion will be subject to the limitations described in the section entitled “United States Federal Income Taxation” in product supplement no. REN-5 and will be based on certain factual representations to be received from us on or prior to the Pricing Date. Assuming this characterization and tax treatment is respected, absent a future clarification in current law (by an administrative determination, judicial ruling or otherwise), where required, ML&Co. intends to report your gain or loss on the Notes as long-term capital gain or loss if you hold the Notes for more than a year, whether or not you are an initial purchaser of Notes at the issue price. However, the Internal Revenue Service or a court may not respect this characterization and tax treatment of the Notes, in which case the timing and character of any income or loss on the Notes could be significantly and adversely affected. You should consult your tax adviser regarding the treatment of the Notes, including possible alternative characterizations and tax treatments.

Selected Risk Factors

An investment in the Notes involves significant risks. Investing in the Notes is not equivalent to investing directly in the Index or any of the component stocks of the Index. These risks are explained in more detail in the “Risk Factors” sections of the accompanying product supplement no. REN-5 and MTN prospectus supplement.

Your investment may result in a loss

You will not receive interest on the Notes and we will not repay to you a fixed amount of principal on the Notes on the maturity date. The payment on the maturity date will depend on the change in the level of the Index and the Maximum Total Return. The Maximum Total Return is 14.30%. Because the level of the Index is subject to market fluctuations, the payment you receive on the maturity date may be more or less than the $1,000 principal amount per Note. You will lose some or all of your investment on the maturity date if the Ending Index Level declines from the Initial Index Level by more than the buffer amount.

Your return is limited and will not reflect the return on a direct investment in the underlying stocks

The opportunity to participate in the possible increases in the level of the Index through an investment in the Notes is limited because the amount you receive at maturity will never exceed the Maximum Total Return, which represents a predetermined percentage of the principal amount. However, if the level of the Index declines on a percentage basis by more than the buffer, you will realize a percentage decline on the Notes greater than the percentage decline on the Index in excess of the buffer. In addition, you will not have voting rights or rights to receive cash dividends or other ownership rights in the stocks comprising the Index, and your return on the Notes will not reflect the return you would realize if you actually owned the common stocks of the companies included in the Index and received the dividends paid on those stocks.

Your return, which could be negative, may be lower than the return on other debt securities of comparable maturity

The return that you will receive on your Notes, which could be negative, may be less than the return you could earn on other investments. Your return may be less than the return you would earn if you bought a traditional interest bearing debt security of ML&Co. with the same stated maturity date. Your investment may not reflect the full opportunity cost to you when you take into account factors that affect the time value of money. Unlike traditional interest bearing debt securities, the Notes do not guarantee the return of a principal amount on the maturity date.

A trading market for the Notes is not expected to develop and the terms of the Notes may affect the secondary market price of the Notes

The Notes will not be listed on any securities exchange, and we do not expect a trading market for the Notes to develop. The limited trading market for the Notes may adversely affect the price that an investor receives for their Notes if they do not wish to hold their investment until the maturity date.

In determining the economic terms of the Notes, and consequently the potential return on the Notes to you, a number of factors are taken into account. Among these factors are certain costs associated with creating, hedging and offering the Notes. In structuring the economic terms of the Notes, we seek to provide investors with what we believe to be commercially reasonable terms and to provide our affiliate MLPF&S with compensation for its services in developing the securities. The price, if any, at which you could sell your Notes in a secondary market transaction is expected to be adversely affected by the factors that we considered in setting the economic terms of the Notes, namely the underwriting discount paid in respect of the Notes and other costs associated with the Notes, and compensation for developing and hedging the product.

The Index Return for the Notes will not be adjusted for changes in exchange rates

The stocks composing the Index are traded in currencies other than U.S. dollars. The Notes, which are linked to the Index, are denominated in U.S. dollars. The amount payable on the Notes on the maturity date will not be adjusted for changes in the exchange rate between the U.S. dollar and each of the currencies in which the stocks composing the Index are denominated and so the return you receive on the Notes may be adversely affected by changes in the relative value of the U.S. dollar and such other currencies.

The trading value of the Notes will be affected by factors that interrelate in complex ways

The effect of one factor may offset the increase in the trading value of the Notes caused by another factor, and the effect of one factor may exacerbate the decrease in the trading value of the Notes caused by another factor. In addition to certain other factors described in the accompanying product supplement no. REN-5, these factors include, changes in (i) the level of the Index, (ii) interest rates, (iii) the volatility of the Index, (iv) dividend yields on the stocks included in the Index and (v) the credit rating of ML&Co.

Role of our subsidiary

MLPF&S, our subsidiary, is our agent for the purposes of calculating the Index closing level, the Ending Index Level and the payment on the maturity date. Under certain circumstances, MLPF&S as our subsidiary and due to its responsibilities as calculation agent for the Notes could give rise to conflicts of interest. MLPF&S is required to carry out its duties as calculation agent in good faith and using its reasonable judgment. However, because we control MLPF&S, potential conflicts of interest could arise. MLPF&S may also provide a hedge to us against the market risks associated with our obligations under the terms of the Notes and MLPF&S or its affiliates may presently or from time to time engage in business with one or more of the companies included in the Index including extending loans to, or making equity investments in, those companies or providing advisory services to those companies, including merger and acquisition advisory services.

Tax consequences are uncertain

You should consider the tax consequences of investing in the Notes, aspects of which are uncertain. See the section entitled "United States Federal Income Taxation" in the accompanying product supplement no. REN-5.
