Summary

The STEP Income Securities® Linked to the common stock of Google Inc., due June , 2010 (the “notes”), are our senior unsecured debt securities and are not guaranteed or insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation or secured by collateral. The notes will rank equally with all of our other unsecured and unsubordinated debt, and any payments due on the notes, including any repayment of principal, will be subject to the credit risk of BAC. The notes provide quarterly interest payments and, if the Ending Value of the Underlying Stock (as defined below) on the Valuation Date is at or above the Step Level, an additional payment per unit at maturity (the “Step Payment”). If the Ending Value of the Underlying Stock on the Valuation Date is less than the Step Level, the amount you will receive on the maturity date (the “Redemption Amount”) will not be greater than the Original Offering Price per unit and will be based on the direction of and percentage change in the price of the Underlying Stock from the Starting Value, as determined on the pricing date, to the Ending Value, as determined on the Valuation Date. Investors must be willing to accept a repayment that may be less, and potentially significantly less, than the Original Offering Price of the notes. Investors also must be willing to accept that no Step Payment will be payable on the maturity date if the closing price of the Underlying Stock is below the Step Level and be willing to lose all or a portion of their principal if the Ending Value is below the Starting Value.

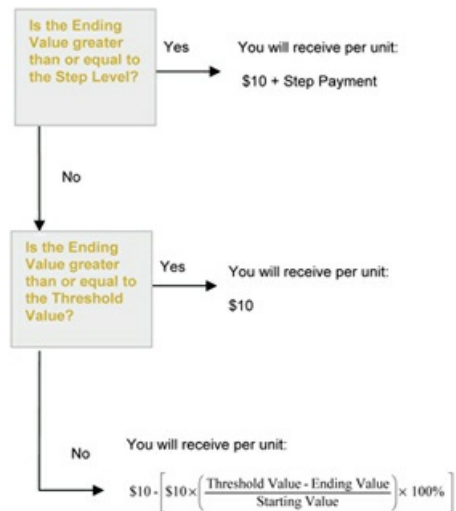

Capitalized terms used but not defined in this term sheet have the meanings set forth in the product supplement STEPS-2.

Terms of the Notes

Issuer:	Bank of America Corporation (“BAC”)
Original Offering Price:	$10 per unit
Term:	Approximately one year and one week
Underlying Stock:	Class A common stock of Google Inc. (the “Underlying Company”).
Starting Value:	The Volume Weighted Average Price
Volume Weighted Average Price:	Absent a determination of manifest error, the price (rounded to four decimal places) shown on page “AQR” on Bloomberg L.P. for trading in shares of the Underlying Stock taking place from approximately 9:30 a.m. to 4:02 p.m. on all U.S. exchanges on the pricing date.
Ending Value:	The Closing Market Price of the Underlying Stock on the Valuation Date, multiplied by the Price Multiplier
Valuation Date:	The fifth scheduled Market Measure Business Day immediately prior to the maturity date, determined as of the pricing date and set forth in the final term sheet that will be made available in connection with sales of the notes, subject to postponement as described in product supplement STEPS-2.
Interest:	The notes will bear interest at the rate of 10% of the Original Offering Price per year per unit. We will pay interest on the notes quarterly in cash in arrears on September , 2009, December , 2009, March , 2010, and June , 2010. Interest will be computed on the basis of a 360-day year of twelve 30-day months.
Step Payment:	If the Ending Value of the notes is greater than or equal to the Step Level, you will receive an additional payment at maturity equal to 2% to 5% of the Original Offering Price per unit (or $0.20 to $0.50 per unit). The actual Step Payment will be determined on the pricing date and will be set forth in the final term sheet made available in connection with the sale of the notes.
Step Level:	110% of the Starting Value (rounded to four decimal places).
Threshold Value:	The Starting Value. Accordingly, you will lose all or a portion of your investment if the Ending Value is less than the Starting Value.
Downside Leverage Factor:	100%
Price Multiplier:	1, subject to adjustment for certain corporate events relating to the Underlying Stock described in product supplement STEPS-2.
Calculation Agent:	MLPF&S, a subsidiary of BAC

Determining the Redemption Amount for the Notes

In addition to interest payable, on the maturity date, you will receive the Redemption Amount, a payment per unit calculated as follows:

Because the Threshold Value for the notes is equal to the Starting Value, you will receive a payment that is less, and possibly significantly less, than the $10 Original Offering Price per unit if the Ending Value is less than the Starting Value.

Hypothetical Payments

Set forth below are three hypothetical examples of payment calculations related to the notes. These examples have been prepared for purposes of illustration only. Your actual return will depend on the actual Starting Value, Ending Value, Step Payment, and the term of your investment. These examples assume:

- 1) The hypothetical Starting Value and hypothetical Threshold Value of 387.7807, which was the Volume Weighted Average Price of the Underlying Stock on April 24, 2009;
- 2) The hypothetical Step Level of 426.5588 (equal to 110% of the hypothetical Starting Value, rounded to four decimal places);
- 3) A hypothetical Step Payment equal to 3.50% of the $10 Original Offering Price per unit (the midpoint of the range of 2% and 5%) if the hypothetical Ending Value is greater than or equal to the hypothetical Step Level;
- 4) A term of the notes from May 1, 2009 to May 10, 2010, a term expected to be similar to that of the notes; and
- 5) Interest payable quarterly in arrears at the rate of 10% of the $10 Original Offering Price per unit per annum.

Example 1

The hypothetical Ending Value is 445.9478 (115% of the hypothetical Starting Value)

The hypothetical Ending Value of the Underlying Stock is greater than the hypothetical Step Level. Consequently, in addition to the quarterly interest payments (represented in yellow below), you will receive on the maturity date the Step Payment (represented in orange below). The Redemption Amount per unit on the maturity date will therefore be equal to $10.35 ($10.00 plus the Step Payment).

Example 2

The hypothetical Ending Value is 407.1697 (105% of the hypothetical Starting Value)

The hypothetical Ending Value of the Underlying Stock is greater than the hypothetical Starting Value but below the hypothetical Step Level. Consequently, you will receive the quarterly interest payments (represented in yellow below), but not the Step Payment. The Redemption Amount per unit on the maturity date will therefore be equal to $10.00.

Example 3

The hypothetical Ending Value is 310.2246 (80% of the hypothetical Starting Value)

The hypothetical Ending Value of the Underlying Stock is less than the hypothetical Threshold Value. Consequently, you will receive only the quarterly interest payments (represented in yellow below). You will not receive the Step Payment, and you will participate in the decrease of the Underlying Stock in excess of the hypothetical Threshold Value. The Redemption Amount per unit will equal:

$$$10 - \left[$10 \times \left(\frac{387.7807 - 310.2246}{387.7807} \right) \times 100\% \right] = $8.00$$

On the maturity date, you will receive the Redemption Amount per unit of $8.00.

Risk Factors

An investment in the notes involves significant risks. The following is a list of certain of the risks involved in investing in the notes. You should carefully review the more detailed explanation of risks relating to the notes in the "Risk Factors" sections included in product supplement STEPS-2 and MTN prospectus supplement identified below under "Additional Terms." We also urge you to consult your investment, legal, tax, accounting, and other advisors before you invest in the notes.

- Your investment will result in a loss if the Ending Value is less than the Starting Value; there is no guaranteed return of principal.
- You will not receive a Step Payment at maturity unless the Ending Value is greater than or equal to the Step Level on the Valuation Date.
- Your return, if any, is limited to the return represented by the periodic interest payments over the term of the notes and the Step Payment, if any.
- Your yield may be less than the yield on a conventional debt security of comparable maturity.
- Your investment return may be less than a comparable investment directly in the Underlying Stock.
- You must rely on your own evaluation of the merits of an investment linked to the Underlying Stock.
- In seeking to provide you with what we believe to be commercially reasonable terms for the notes while providing the selling agents with compensation for their services, we have considered the costs of developing, hedging, and distributing the notes.
- We cannot assure you that a trading market for your notes will ever develop or be maintained.
- The Redemption Amount will not be affected by all developments relating to the Underlying Stock.
- The Underlying Company will have no obligations relating to the notes, and neither we nor any selling agent will perform any due diligence procedures with respect to the Underlying Company in connection with this offering.
- You will have no rights as a holder of the Underlying Stock, and you will not be entitled to receive any shares of the Underlying Stock or dividends or other distributions by the Underlying Company.
- We do not control the Underlying Company, and are not responsible for any disclosure made by the Underlying Company.
- If you attempt to sell notes prior to maturity, their market value, if any, will be affected by various factors that interrelate in complex ways, and their market value may be less than their Original Offering Price.
- Payments on the notes are subject to our credit risk, and changes in our credit ratings are expected to affect the value of the notes.
- Purchases and sales by us and our affiliates may affect your return.
- Our trading and hedging activities may create conflicts of interest with you.
- Our hedging activities may affect your return on the notes and their market value.
- Our business activities relating to the Underlying Company may create conflicts of interest with you.
- There may be potential conflicts of interest involving the calculation agent. We have the right to appoint and remove the calculation agent.
- The U.S. federal income tax consequences of the notes are uncertain, and may be adverse to a holder of the notes. See "Summary Tax Consequences" and "Certain U.S. Federal Income Taxation Considerations" below and "U.S. Federal Income Tax Summary" in product supplement STEPS-2.

Investor Considerations

You may wish to consider an investment in the notes if:

- You anticipate that the closing price of the Underlying Stock on the Valuation Date will be greater than or equal to the Step Level.
- You seek interest payments on your investment.
- You are willing to accept that the maximum return on the notes is limited to the sum of the quarterly interest payments and the Step Payment, if any.
- You accept that your investment may result in a loss, which could be significant, if the closing price of the Underlying Stock decreases from the Starting Value to the Ending Value.
- You want exposure to the Underlying Stock with no expectation of dividends or other benefits of owning shares of the Underlying Stock.
- You are willing to accept that there is no assurance that the notes will be listed or remain listed on NYSE Arca. You understand that any listing does not ensure that a trading market will develop for the notes or that there will be liquidity in any trading market. You understand that secondary market prices for the notes, if any, will be affected by various, including our perceived creditworthiness.

The notes may not be an appropriate investment for you if:

- You anticipate that the price of the Underlying Stock will depreciate from the Starting Value to the Ending Value, or that the price of the Underlying Stock will appreciate from the Starting Value to the Ending Value, but will not reach the Step Level.
- You anticipate that the price of the Underlying Stock will appreciate substantially from the Starting Value to the Ending Value and do not want a payment at maturity that is limited to the Step Payment.
- You seek principal protection or preservation of capital.
- In addition to interest payments, you seek an additional guaranteed return at a premium above the principal amount of the notes.
- You want to receive dividends or other distributions paid on the Underlying Stock.
- You want assurances that there will be a liquid market if and when you want to sell the notes prior to maturity.

Before investing in the notes, you should consult publicly available sources for the levels and trading pattern of the Underlying Stock. The generally unsettled international environment and related uncertainties, including the risk of terrorism, may result in the Underlying Stock and financial markets generally exhibiting greater volatility than in earlier periods.

Summary Tax Consequences

You should consider the U.S. federal income tax consequences of an investment in the notes, including the following:

- You agree with us (in the absence of an administrative determination, or judicial ruling to the contrary) to characterize and treat the notes for all tax purposes as an income-bearing single financial contract linked to the Underlying Stock that requires you to pay us at inception an amount equal to the purchase price of the notes and that entitles you to receive the stated periodic interest payments as well as, at maturity, an amount in cash linked to the value of the Underlying Stock.
- Under this characterization and tax treatment of the notes, we intend to take the position that the stated periodic interest payments constitute taxable ordinary income to you, and, upon receipt of a cash payment at maturity or upon a sale or exchange of the notes prior to maturity (other than amounts representing accrued stated periodic interest payments), you generally will recognize capital gain or loss. This capital gain or loss generally will be long-term capital gain or loss if you hold the notes for more than one year.

Certain U.S. Federal Income Taxation Considerations

Set forth below is a summary of certain U.S. federal income tax considerations relating to an investment in the notes. The following summary is not complete and is qualified in its entirety by the discussion under the section entitled "U.S. Federal Income Tax Summary" in product supplement STEPS-2, which you should carefully review prior to investing in the notes.

General. Although there is no statutory, judicial, or administrative authority directly addressing the characterization of the notes, we intend to treat the notes for all tax purposes as an income-bearing single financial contract linked to the Underlying Stock that requires you to pay us at inception an amount equal to the purchase price of the notes and that entitles you to receive the stated periodic interest payments as well as, at maturity, an amount in cash linked to the value of the Underlying Stock. Under the terms of the notes, we and every investor in the notes agree, in the absence of an administrative determination or judicial ruling to the contrary, to treat the notes as described in the preceding sentence. This discussion assumes that the notes constitute an income-bearing single financial contract linked to the Underlying Stock for U.S. federal income tax purposes. If the notes did not constitute an income-bearing single financial contract, the tax consequences described below would be materially different.

This characterization of the notes is not binding on the Internal Revenue Service ("IRS") or the courts. No statutory, judicial, or administrative authority directly addresses the characterization of the notes or any similar instruments for U.S. federal income tax purposes, and no ruling is being requested from the IRS with respect to their proper characterization and treatment. Due to the absence of authorities on point, significant aspects of the U.S. federal income tax consequences of an investment in the notes are not certain, and no assurance can be given that the IRS or any court will agree with the characterization and tax treatment described in product supplement STEPS-2. Accordingly, you are urged to consult your tax advisor regarding all aspects of the U.S. federal income tax consequences of an investment in the notes, including possible alternative characterizations. The discussion in this section and in the section entitled "U.S. Federal Income Tax Summary" in product supplement STEPS-2 assume that there is a significant possibility of a significant loss of principal on an investment in the notes.

Stated Periodic Interest Payments. Although the U.S. federal income tax treatment of the stated periodic interest payments on the notes is uncertain, we intend to take the position, and this discussion assumes, that the stated periodic interest payments constitute taxable ordinary income to a U.S. Holder (as defined in product supplement STEPS-2) at the time received or accrued in accordance with the U.S. Holder's regular method of accounting.

Settlement at Maturity or Sale or Exchange Prior to Maturity. Assuming that the notes are properly characterized and treated as income-bearing single financial contracts linked to the Underlying Stock for U.S. federal income tax purposes, upon receipt of a cash payment at maturity or upon a sale or exchange of the notes prior to maturity, a U.S. Holder generally will recognize capital gain or loss equal to the difference between the amount realized (other than amounts representing accrued stated periodic interest payments, which would be taxed as described above under "– Stated Periodic Interest Payments") and the U.S. Holder's basis in the notes. This capital gain or loss generally will be long-term capital gain or loss if the U.S. Holder holds the notes for more than one year. The deductibility of capital losses is subject to limitations.

Possible Future Tax Law Changes. On December 7, 2007, the IRS released Notice 2008-2 ("Notice") seeking comments from the public on the taxation of financial instruments currently taxed as "prepaid forward contracts." The scope of the Notice may extend to instruments similar to the notes. According to the Notice, the IRS and Treasury are considering whether a holder of such instruments should be required to accrue ordinary income on a current basis, regardless of whether any payments are made prior to maturity. It is not possible to determine what guidance the IRS and Treasury will ultimately issue, if any. Any such future guidance may affect the amount, timing, and character of income, gain, or loss in respect of the notes, possibly with retroactive effect. The IRS and Treasury are also considering additional issues, including whether additional gain or loss from such instruments should be treated as ordinary or capital, whether foreign holders of such instruments should be subject to withholding tax on any deemed income accruals, whether Section 1260 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended, concerning certain "constructive ownership transactions," generally applies or should generally apply to such instruments, and whether any of these determinations depend on the nature of the underlying asset. We urge you to consult your own tax advisors concerning the impact and the significance of the above considerations. We intend to continue treating the notes for U.S. federal income tax purposes in the manner described herein unless and until such time as we determine, or the IRS or Treasury determines, that some other treatment is more appropriate.

You should consult your own tax advisor concerning the U.S. federal income tax consequences to you of acquiring, owning, and disposing of the notes, as well as any tax consequences arising under the laws of any state, local, foreign, or other tax jurisdiction and the possible effects of changes in U.S. federal or other tax laws. See the discussion under the section entitled "U.S. Federal Income Tax Summary" in product supplement STEPS-2.

Structured Investments Classification

MLPF&S classifies certain structured investments (the "Structured Investments"), including the notes, into four categories, each with different investment characteristics. The description below is intended to briefly describe the four categories of Structured Investments offered: Principal Protection, Enhanced Income, Market Participation, and Enhanced Participation. A Structured Investment may, however, combine characteristics that are relevant to one or more of the other categories. As such, a category should not be relied upon as a description of any particular Structured Investment.

Principal Protection: Principal Protected Structured Investments offer full or partial principal protection at maturity, while offering market exposure and the opportunity for a better return than may be available from comparable fixed income securities. Principal protection may not be achieved if the investment is sold prior to maturity.

Enhanced Income: Structured Investments offering enhanced income may offer an enhanced income stream through interim fixed or variable coupon payments. However, in exchange for receiving current income, investors may forfeit upside potential on the underlying asset. These investments generally do not include the principal protection feature.

Market Participation: Market Participation Structured Investments can offer investors exposure to specific market sectors, asset classes, and/or strategies that may not be readily available through traditional investment alternatives. Returns obtained from these investments are tied to the performance of the underlying asset. As such, subject to certain fees, the returns will generally reflect any increases or decreases in the value of such assets. These investments are not structured to include the principal protection feature.

Enhanced Participation: Enhanced Participation Structured Investments may offer investors the potential to receive better than market returns on the performance of the underlying asset.
