ADDITIONAL RISK FACTORS

The Index Manager may from time to time modify the methodology for determining the composition and calculation of the Index.

Merrill Lynch Commodities, Inc. (the “Index Manager”), which is one of our subsidiaries, retains the discretion to modify the methodology for determining the composition and the level of the Underlying Index at any time. The Index Manager reserves the right to modify the methodology and calculation of the Underlying Index from time to time, if it believes that modifications are necessary or appropriate. It is possible that certain of these modifications will adversely affect the level of the Underlying Index and, accordingly, cause the market value of the Notes and the Redemption Amount to decrease.

Additional conflicts of interest may exist.

One of our subsidiaries, Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith Limited (the “Index Publisher”), is the Index Publisher, and another of our subsidiaries, Merrill Lynch Commodities, Inc., is the Index Manager. In certain circumstances, the Index Publisher’s and the Index Manager’s roles as our subsidiaries and their responsibilities with respect to the Underlying Index could give rise to conflicts of interest. Even though the Underlying Index will be calculated in accordance with certain principles, its calculation and maintenance require that certain judgments and decisions be made. The Index Publisher and the Index Manager will be responsible for these judgments and decisions. As a result, the determinations made by the Index Publisher and/or the Index Manager could adversely affect the level of the Underlying Index and, accordingly, decrease the Redemption Amount. In making any determination with respect to the Underlying Index, neither the Index Publisher nor the Index Manager is required to consider your interests as a holder of the Notes.

Further, Merrill Lynch Commodities, Inc. faces a potential conflict of interest between its role as Index Manager and its active role in trading commodities and derivatives instruments based upon the components of the Underlying Index.

THE UNDERLYING INDEX

Merrill Lynch Commodity Index eXtra A 01 Total Return

All disclosures contained in this term sheet regarding the Underlying Index, including, without limitation, its make up, method of calculation, and changes in its components, have been derived from publicly available sources or from information made available to us by the Index Manager or Index Publisher. The information reflects the policies of, and is subject to change by, the Index Manager and the Index Publisher. The Index Manager and the Index Publisher have no obligation to continue to publish, and may discontinue publication of, the Underlying Index. The consequences of the Index Manager and the Index Publisher discontinuing publication of the Underlying Index are discussed in the section of product supplement CLN-2 entitled “Description of the Notes—Discontinuance of an Underlying Index.” None of us, the calculation agent, or MLPF&S accepts any responsibility for the calculation, maintenance, or publication of the Underlying Index or any successor index.

The Underlying Index is a fully collateralized version of the Merrill Lynch Commodity Index Extra A 01 (“MLCXA01”), which is itself a modified version of the Merrill Lynch Commodity index eXtraSM (“MLCX”). The Underlying Index measures the performance of an investment in the commodity markets over time. The Underlying Index is fully collateralized because it combines the returns of the MLCXA01 with the returns on cash collateral invested in U.S. Treasury Bills. The Underlying Index is also designed as a “tradable” index that is readily accessible to market participants. The Underlying Index tracks the returns of rolling commodities futures contracts. The Underlying Index is currently comprised of futures contracts in respect of 19 physical commodities. A commodity futures contract is an agreement that provides for the purchase and sale of a specified type and quantity of a commodity during a stated delivery month for a fixed price. The 19 commodities that currently comprise the Underlying Index (the “Index Commodities”) are: aluminum, coffee, copper, corn, cotton, crude oil, gold, heating oil, lean hogs, live cattle, natural gas, nickel, silver, soybeans, soybean oil, sugar, unleaded gasoline, wheat and zinc. The Index Commodities currently trade on United States exchanges, with the exception of aluminum, nickel and zinc, which trade on the London Metal Exchange.

The MLCX is more fully described in product supplement CLN-2 under “The Underlying Indices—Merrill Lynch Commodity index eXtraSM.”

“Merrill Lynch Commodity index eXtraSM” is our service mark and trademark.
