Summary

The Coupon-Bearing Notes Linked to the common stock of JPMorgan Chase & Co., due September 13, 2011 (the “notes”), are our senior unsecured debt securities. The notes are not guaranteed or insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (the “FDIC”) or secured by collateral. The notes will rank equally with all of our other unsecured and unsubordinated debt, and any payments due on the notes, including any repayment of principal, will be subject to the credit risk of BAC. The notes provide quarterly interest payments and, if the Ending Value of the Underlying Stock (as defined below) on the Valuation Date is at or above the Threshold Value, you will receive on the maturity date the Original Offering Price per unit. If the Ending Value of the Underlying Stock on the Valuation Date is less than the Threshold Value, the amount you will receive on the maturity date (the “Redemption Amount”) will be less than the Original Offering Price per unit and will be based on the percentage change in the price of the Underlying Stock from the Starting Value, as determined on the pricing date, to the Ending Value, as determined on the Valuation Date. Investors must be willing to forgo participation in possible increases in the price of the Underlying Stock and accept a Redemption Amount at maturity that is limited to the Original Offering Price of the notes. Investors must also be willing to accept a repayment that is less, and potentially significantly less, than the Original Offering Price if the Ending Value is less than the Threshold Value.

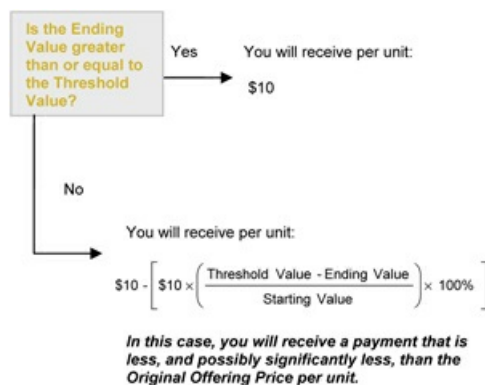

Capitalized terms used but not defined in this term sheet have the meanings set forth in the product supplement Coupon-Bearing Notes-1. Unless otherwise indicated or unless the context requires otherwise, all references in this document to “we,” “us,” “our,” or similar references are to BAC.

Determining the Redemption Amount for the Notes

In addition to interest payable, on the maturity date, you will receive the Redemption Amount, a payment per unit calculated as follows:

Hypothetical Payments

Set forth below are three hypothetical examples of payment calculations related to the notes. These examples have been prepared for purposes of illustration only. Your actual return will depend on the actual Ending Value and the term of your investment. These examples are based on:

- 1) the Starting Value of 36.11;
- 2) the Threshold Value of 32.18 (equal to 89.11% of the Starting Value, rounded to two decimal places);
- 3) the term of the notes from September 3, 2010 to September 13, 2011; and
- 4) interest payable quarterly in arrears at the rate of 9% of the Original Offering Price per unit per annum.

Example 1

The hypothetical Ending Value is 37.92 (105% of the Starting Value).

The hypothetical Ending Value of the Underlying Stock is greater than the Starting Value and the Threshold Value. Because the Ending Value is greater than or equal to the Threshold Value, the Redemption Amount per unit on the maturity date will be equal to $10.00. You will receive the quarterly interest payments (represented in yellow below), but you will not participate in the increase in the value of the Underlying Stock.

Example 2

The hypothetical Ending Value is 34.67 (96% of the Starting Value).

The hypothetical Ending Value of the Underlying Stock is less than the Starting Value, but is greater than the Threshold Value. Because the Ending Value is greater than or equal to the Threshold Value, in addition to the quarterly interest payments (represented in yellow below), the Redemption Amount per unit on the maturity date will be equal to $10.00.

ENHANCED PARTICIPATION

Example 3

The hypothetical Ending Value is 28.89 (80% of the Starting Value).

The hypothetical Ending Value of the Underlying Stock is less than the Threshold Value. You will receive the quarterly interest payments (represented in yellow below). In addition, you will participate in the percentage decrease of the value of the Underlying Stock in excess of the Threshold Value. The Redemption Amount per unit (rounded to two decimal places) will equal:

$$$10 - \left[$10 \times \left(\frac{32.18 - 28.89}{36.11} \right) \times 100\% \right] = $9.09$$

On the maturity date, you will receive the Redemption Amount per unit of $9.09.

Summary of the Hypothetical Examples	Example 1	Example 2	Example 3
	The hypothetical Ending Value is greater than or equal to the Starting Value and the Threshold Value	The hypothetical Ending Value is less than the Starting Value and greater than or equal to the Threshold Value	The hypothetical Ending Value is less than the Threshold Value
Starting Value	36.11	36.11	36.11
Hypothetical Ending Value	37.92	34.67	28.89
Threshold Value	32.18	32.18	32.18
Interest Rate (per annum)	9.00%	9.00%	9.00%
Redemption Amount per Unit	$10.00	$10.00	$9.09
Total Return of the Underlying Stock(1)	5.58%	-3.42%	-19.42%
Total Return on the Notes(2)	9.25%	9.25%	0.14%

- (1) The total return of the Underlying Stock assumes:
- a percentage change in the price of the Underlying Stock that equals the percentage change in the price of the Underlying Stock from the Starting Value to the hypothetical Ending Value;
 - a constant dividend yield of 0.58% per annum, the dividend yield as reported by Bloomberg L.P.; and
 - no transaction fees or expenses.
- (2) The total return on the notes includes interest paid on the notes from September 3, 2010 to September 13, 2011, the term of the notes.

Risk Factors

There are important differences between the notes and a conventional debt security. An investment in the notes involves significant risks, including those listed below. You should carefully review the more detailed explanation of risks relating to the notes in the "Risk Factors" sections beginning on page S-9 of product supplement Coupon-Bearing Notes-1 and page S-4 of the MTN prospectus supplement identified below under "Additional Terms." We also urge you to consult your investment, legal, tax, accounting, and other advisors before you invest in the notes.

- Your investment will result in a loss if the Ending Value is less than the Threshold Value; there is no guaranteed return of principal.
- Your return, if any, is limited to the return represented by the periodic interest payments over the term of the notes.
- Your yield may be less than the yield on a conventional debt security of comparable maturity.
- You will have no opportunity to participate in possible increases in the price of the Underlying Stock because the Redemption Amount cannot exceed the Original Offering Price.
- Your investment return, if any, may be less than a comparable investment directly in the Underlying Stock.
- You must rely on your own evaluation of the merits of an investment linked to the Underlying Stock.
- In seeking to provide you with what we believe to be commercially reasonable terms for the notes while providing MLPF&S with compensation for its services, we have considered the costs of developing, hedging, and distributing the notes.
- A trading market is not expected to develop for your notes. MLPF&S is not obligated to make a market for, or to repurchase, the notes.
- The Redemption Amount will not be affected by all developments relating to the Underlying Stock.
- The Underlying Company will have no obligations relating to the notes, and neither we nor the selling agent will perform any due diligence procedures with respect to the Underlying Company in connection with this offering.
- You will not have the rights of a holder of the Underlying Stock, and you will not be entitled to receive shares of the Underlying Stock or dividends or other distributions by the Underlying Company.
- Although we and our affiliates may hold securities of the Underlying Company from time to time, we do not control the Underlying Company, and are not responsible for any disclosure made by the Underlying Company.
- If you attempt to sell notes prior to maturity, their market value, if any, will be affected by various factors that interrelate in complex ways, and their market value may be less than their Original Offering Price.
- Payments on the notes are subject to our credit risk, and changes in our credit ratings are expected to affect the value of the notes.
- Purchases and sales by us and our affiliates of the Underlying Stock may affect your return.
- Our trading and hedging activities may create conflicts of interest with you.
- Our hedging activities may affect your return on the notes and their market value.
- Our business activities relating to the Underlying Company may create conflicts of interest with you.
- There may be potential conflicts of interest involving the calculation agent. We have the right to appoint and remove the calculation agent.
- The Redemption Amount will not be adjusted for all corporate events that could affect the Underlying Stock. See "Description of the Notes—Anti-Dilution Adjustments for Notes Linked to Underlying Stocks" beginning on page S-31 of product supplement Coupon-Bearing Notes-1.
- The U.S. federal income tax consequences of the notes are uncertain and may be adverse to a holder of the notes. See "Summary Tax Consequences" and "Certain U.S. Federal Income Taxation Considerations" below and "U.S. Federal Income Tax Summary" beginning on page S-46 of product supplement Coupon-Bearing Notes-1.

Investor Considerations

You may wish to consider an investment in the notes if:

- You anticipate that the closing price of the Underlying Stock on the Valuation Date will be greater than or equal to the Threshold Value.
- You seek interest payments on your investment.
- You are willing to accept that the maximum return on the notes is limited to the sum of the quarterly interest payments, and that you will have no opportunity to participate in possible increases in the price of the Underlying Stock.
- You accept that your investment will result in a loss, which could be significant, if the closing price of the Underlying Stock decreases from the Starting Value to an Ending Value that is less than the Threshold Value.
- You seek exposure to the Underlying Stock with no expectation of dividends or other benefits of owning shares of the Underlying Stock.
- You are willing to accept that a trading market is not expected to develop for the notes. You understand that secondary market prices for the notes, if any, will be affected by various factors, including our actual and perceived creditworthiness.
- You are willing to make an investment, the payments on which depend on our creditworthiness, as the issuer of the notes.

The notes may not be an appropriate investment for you if:

- You anticipate that the closing price of the Underlying Stock on the Valuation Date will be less than the Threshold Value.
- You anticipate that the price of the Underlying Stock will increase from the Starting Value to the Ending Value and seek to participate in that increase.
- You seek 100% principal protection or preservation of capital.
- In addition to interest payments, you seek an additional return at a premium above the principal amount of the notes.
- You seek to receive dividends or other distributions paid on the Underlying Stock.
- You seek assurances that there will be a liquid market if and when you want to sell the notes prior to maturity.
- You are unwilling or are unable to assume the credit risk associated with us, as the issuer of the notes.

Other Provisions

We will deliver the notes against payment therefor in New York, New York on a date that is more than three business days following the pricing date. Under Rule 15c6-1 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, trades in the secondary market generally are required to settle in three business days, unless the parties to any such trade expressly agree otherwise. Accordingly, purchasers who wish to trade notes more than three business days prior to the original issue date will be required to specify alternative settlement arrangements to prevent a failed settlement.

If you place an order to purchase the notes, you are consenting to MLPF&S acting as a principal in effecting the transaction for your account.

Supplement to the Plan of Distribution

MLPF&S, a broker-dealer subsidiary of BAC, is a member of the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority, Inc. (formerly the National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc. (the "NASD")) and will participate as selling agent in the distribution of the notes. Accordingly, offerings of the notes will conform to the requirements of NASD Rule 2720. Under our distribution agreement with MLPF&S, MLPF&S will purchase the notes from us on the issue date as principal at the purchase price indicated on the cover of this term sheet, less the indicated underwriting discount. In the original offering of the notes, the notes will be sold in minimum investment amounts of 100 units.

MLPF&S may use this Note Prospectus for offers and sales in secondary market transactions and market-making transactions in the notes but is not obligated to engage in such secondary market transactions and/or market-making transactions. MLPF&S may act as principal or agent in these transactions, and any such sales will be made at prices related to prevailing market prices at the time of the sale.

Summary Tax Consequences

You should consider the U.S. federal income tax consequences of an investment in the notes, including the following:

- You agree with us (in the absence of an administrative determination, or judicial ruling to the contrary) to characterize and treat the notes for all tax purposes as income-bearing single financial contracts linked to the Underlying Stock that requires you to pay us at inception an amount equal to the purchase price of the notes and that entitles you to receive the stated periodic interest payments as well as, at maturity, an amount in cash linked to the value of the Underlying Stock.
- Under this characterization and tax treatment of the notes, we intend to take the position that the stated periodic interest payments constitute taxable ordinary income to you, and, upon receipt of a cash payment at maturity or upon a sale or exchange of the notes prior to maturity (other than amounts representing accrued stated periodic interest payments), you generally will recognize capital gain or loss. This capital gain or loss generally will be long-term capital gain or loss if you hold the notes for more than one year.

Certain U.S. Federal Income Taxation Considerations

Set forth below is a summary of certain U.S. federal income tax considerations relating to an investment in the notes. The following summary is not complete and is qualified in its entirety by the discussion under the section entitled "U.S. Federal Income Tax Summary" beginning on page S-46 of the product supplement Coupon-Bearing Notes-1, which you should carefully review prior to investing in the notes.

General. Although there is no statutory, judicial, or administrative authority directly addressing the characterization of the notes, we intend to treat the notes for all tax purposes as income-bearing single financial contracts linked to the Underlying Stock that requires you to pay us at inception an amount equal to the purchase price of the notes and that entitles you to receive the stated periodic interest payments as well as, at maturity, an amount in cash linked to the value of the Underlying Stock. Under the terms of the notes, we and every investor in the notes agree, in the absence of an administrative determination or judicial ruling to the contrary, to treat the notes as described in the preceding sentence. This discussion assumes that the notes constitute income-bearing single financial contracts linked to the Underlying Stock for U.S. federal income tax purposes. If the notes did not constitute income-bearing single financial contracts, the tax consequences described below would be materially different.

This characterization of the notes is not binding on the Internal Revenue Service ("IRS") or the courts. No statutory, judicial, or administrative authority directly addresses the characterization of the notes or any similar instruments for U.S. federal income tax purposes, and no ruling is being requested from the IRS with respect to their proper characterization and treatment. Due to the absence of authorities on point, significant aspects of the U.S. federal income tax consequences of an investment in the notes are not certain, and no assurance can be given that the IRS or any court will agree with the characterization and tax treatment described in product supplement Coupon-Bearing Notes-1. Accordingly, you are urged to consult your tax advisor regarding all aspects of the U.S. federal income tax consequences of an investment in the notes, including possible alternative characterizations. The discussion in this section and in the section entitled "U.S. Federal Income Tax Summary" beginning on page S-46 of product supplement Coupon-Bearing Notes-1 assume that there is a significant possibility of a significant loss of principal on an investment in the notes.

Stated Periodic Interest Payments. Although the U.S. federal income tax treatment of the stated periodic interest payments on the notes is uncertain, we intend to take the position, and this discussion assumes, that the stated periodic interest payments constitute taxable ordinary income to a U.S. Holder (as defined in product supplement Coupon-Bearing Notes-1) at the time received or accrued in accordance with the U.S. Holder's regular method of accounting.

Settlement at Maturity or Sale or Exchange Prior to Maturity. Assuming that the notes are properly characterized and treated as income-bearing single financial contracts linked to the Underlying Stock for U.S. federal income tax purposes, upon receipt of a cash payment at maturity or upon a sale or exchange of the notes prior to maturity, a U.S. Holder generally will recognize capital gain or loss equal to the difference between the amount realized (other than amounts representing accrued stated periodic interest payments, which would be taxed as described above under "– Stated Periodic Interest Payments") and the U.S. Holder's basis in the notes. This capital gain or loss generally will be long-term capital gain or loss if the U.S. Holder holds the notes for more than one year. The deductibility of capital losses is subject to limitations.

Possible Future Tax Law Changes. From time to time, there may be legislative proposals or interpretive guidance addressing the tax treatment of financial instruments such as the notes. We cannot predict the likelihood of any such legislation or guidance being adopted, or the ultimate impact on the notes. For example, on December 7, 2007, the IRS released Notice 2008-2 ("Notice") seeking comments from the public on the taxation of financial instruments currently taxed as "prepaid forward contracts." The scope of the Notice may extend to instruments similar to the notes. According to the Notice, the IRS and Treasury are considering whether a holder of such instruments should be required to accrue ordinary income on a current basis, regardless of whether any payments are made prior to maturity. It is not possible to determine what guidance the IRS and Treasury will ultimately issue, if any. Any such future guidance may affect the amount, timing, and character of income, gain, or loss in respect of the notes, possibly with retroactive effect. The IRS and Treasury are also considering additional issues, including whether additional gain or loss from such instruments should be treated as ordinary or capital, whether foreign holders of such instruments should be subject to withholding tax on any deemed income accruals, whether Section 1260 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended, concerning certain "constructive ownership transactions," generally applies or should generally apply to such instruments, and whether any of these determinations depend on the nature of the underlying asset. We urge you to consult your own tax advisors concerning the impact and the significance of the above considerations. We intend to continue treating the notes for U.S. federal income tax purposes in the manner described herein unless and until such time as we determine, or the IRS or Treasury determines, that some other treatment is more appropriate.

You should consult your own tax advisor concerning the U.S. federal income tax consequences to you of acquiring, owning, and disposing of the notes, as well as any tax consequences arising under the laws of any state, local, foreign, or other tax jurisdiction and the possible effects of changes in U.S. federal or other tax laws. See the discussion under the section entitled "U.S. Federal Income Tax Summary" beginning on page S-46 of product supplement Coupon-Bearing Notes-1.

Structured Investments Classification

MLPF&S classifies certain structured investments (the "Structured Investments"), including the notes, into four categories, each with different investment characteristics. The description below is intended to briefly describe the four categories of Structured Investments offered: Principal Protection, Enhanced Income, Market Participation, and Enhanced Participation. A Structured Investment may, however, combine characteristics that are relevant to one or more of the other categories. As such, a category should not be relied upon as a description of any particular Structured Investment.

Principal Protection: Principal Protected Structured Investments offer full or partial principal protection against decreases in the value of the underlying market measure (or increases in the value of an underlying market measure for bearish Structured Investments), while offering market exposure and the opportunity for a better return than may be available from comparable fixed income securities. Principal protection may not be achieved if the investment is sold prior to maturity.

Enhanced Income: Structured Investments offering enhanced income may offer an enhanced income stream through interim fixed or variable coupon payments. However, in exchange for receiving current income, investors may forfeit upside potential on the underlying asset. These investments generally do not include the principal protection feature.

Market Participation: Market Participation Structured Investments can offer investors exposure to specific market sectors, asset classes, and/or strategies that may not be readily available through traditional investment alternatives. Returns obtained from these investments are tied to the performance of the underlying asset. As such, subject to certain fees, the returns will generally reflect any increases or decreases in the value of such assets. These investments generally do not include the principal protection feature.

Enhanced Participation: Enhanced Participation Structured Investments may offer investors the potential to receive better than market returns on the performance of the underlying asset. Some structures may offer leverage in exchange for a capped or limited upside potential and also in exchange for downside risk. These investments generally do not include the principal protection feature.

The classification of Structured Investments is meant solely for informational purposes and is not intended to fully describe any particular Structured Investment nor guarantee any particular performance.
