THE UNDERLYING INDEX

The Underlying Index is a sub-index of the S&P GSCI® Index Total Return and measures the performance of an investment in certain precious metals-related futures contracts over time. The Underlying Index is currently comprised of futures contracts on two precious metal-related physical commodities: gold and silver (the “Index Commodities”). The Underlying Index is calculated using the same methodology as the S&P GSCI® Index Total Return. However, the Underlying Index only references the Index Commodities and their respective weightings in the Underlying Index.

The S&P GSCI® Index Total Return reflects the returns of the S&P GSCI® Index Excess Return and interest earned on hypothetical fully collateralized contract positions on the commodities included in the S&P GSCI® Index. See “The Underlying Indices—S&P GSCI™” beginning on page S-39 of product supplement CLN-2 for information about the Underlying Index. Standard & Poor’s Financial Services LLC (“S&P”) has no obligation to continue to publish, and may discontinue publication of, the Underlying Index. The consequences of S&P discontinuing publication of the Underlying Index are discussed in the section of product supplement CLN-2 entitled “Description of the Notes—Discontinuance of an Underlying Index” beginning on page S-28. None of us, the calculation agent, or MLPF&S accepts any responsibility for the calculation, maintenance, or publication of the Underlying Index or any successor index.
