THE UNDERLYING INDEX

The Underlying Index is a sub-index of the S&P GSCI® Index Total Return and measures the performance of an investment in certain precious metals-related futures contracts over time. The Underlying Index is currently comprised of futures contracts on two precious metal-related physical commodities: gold and silver (the “Index Commodities”). The Underlying Index is calculated using the same methodology as the S&P GSCI® Index Total Return. However, the Underlying Index only references the Index Commodities and their respective weightings in the Underlying Index.

The S&P GSCI® Index Total Return reflects the returns of the S&P GSCI® Index Excess Return and interest earned on hypothetical fully collateralized contract positions on the commodities included in the S&P GSCI® Index. See “The Underlying Indices—S&P GSCI™” beginning on page S-39 of product supplement CLN-2 for information about the Underlying Index. Standard & Poor’s Financial Services LLC (“S&P”) has no obligation to continue to publish, and may discontinue publication of, the Underlying Index. The consequences of S&P discontinuing publication of the Underlying Index are discussed in the section of product supplement CLN-2 entitled “Description of the Notes—Discontinuance of an Underlying Index” beginning on page S-28. None of us, the calculation agent, or MLPF&S accepts any responsibility for the calculation, maintenance, or publication of the Underlying Index or any successor index.

HISTORICAL INFORMATION

The following graph sets forth the daily historical performance of the Underlying Index in the period from January 2006 through October 2011. This historical data on the Underlying Index is not necessarily indicative of the future performance of the Underlying Index or what the value of the Notes may be. Any historical upward or downward trend in the level of the Underlying Index during any period set forth below is not an indication that the level of the Underlying Index is more or less likely to increase or decrease at any time over the term of the Notes. On the pricing date, the closing level of the Underlying Index was 2,254.883.
