Risk Factors

Please see the Preliminary Offering Documents for a description of certain risks related to this investment, including, but not limited to, the following:

- Depending on the performance of the Exchange Rate Measure as measured shortly before the maturity date, you may not earn a return on your investment and you may lose up to 10% of your principal amount.
- Payments on the notes are subject to the credit risk of BAC, and actual or perceived changes in the creditworthiness of BAC are expected to affect the value of the notes. If BAC becomes insolvent or is unable to pay its obligations, you may lose your entire investment.
- Changes in the Exchange Rates of the Underlying Currencies may offset each other.
- The initial estimated value of the notes on the pricing date will be less than their public offering price.
- If you attempt to sell the notes prior to maturity, their market value may be lower than both the public offering price and the initial estimated value of the notes on the pricing date.
- The Exchange Rate Measure could be affected by actions of the governments of China, India, Russia, the European Union and the United States.
- Even though currencies trade around-the-clock, the notes will not, and the prevailing market prices for the notes may not reflect current exchange rates.
- Changes in the exchange rates of the Underlying Currencies relative to the U.S. dollar or in the exchange rate of the U.S. dollar relative to the euro may affect the Redemption Amount.
- An investment in the notes is subject to risks associated with emerging market currencies.
