Explanation of Responses:

¹ A subsidiary of the Designated Filer entered into a collar arrangement pursuant to which it wrote a covered call option and purchased a put option. Only one of the options making up the collar can have value on the expiration date, at which time that option will be exercised or settled for cash, and the other option will expire. If neither of the options is in the money at the expiration date, both options will expire. The economic attributes of the instrument were transferred to the Designated Filer through internal transactions. A portion of the proceeds will be allocated internally among the reporting persons.
