Item 1.01. Entry into a Material Definitive Agreement

Each year, Merrill Lynch & Co., Inc. ("Merrill Lynch") offers certain employees who are integral to the success of its business the opportunity to elect to defer compensation in excess of certain thresholds to provide those individuals with the flexibility of meeting their future income needs. This year, employees of Merrill Lynch whose compensation exceeds $300,000 annually are being offered the opportunity to participate in the Merrill Lynch 2008 Deferred Compensation Plan for a Select Group of Eligible Employees (the "Plan"). Among those employees offered the opportunity to elect to defer under the Plan are the executive officers of Merrill Lynch including those executive officers named in the Company's Proxy Statement for its 2007 Annual Meeting of Shareholders. The terms of the annual deferred compensation plans remain substantially similar from year to year. Employees have the option of electing whether or not to participate in the Plan.

Under the Plan, Merrill Lynch gives employees who are eligible the opportunity to enter into agreements to defer a specified percentage of their compensation or a specified dollar amount. Compensation that may be deferred is cash incentive compensation, commission compensation, a sign-on bonus, or other types of compensation.

Employees who elect to participate can defer all or a portion of their performance-based cash incentive compensation expected to be received in January of 2008 or, in the case of the Merrill Lynch's Financial Advisors, commission compensation paid after January 1, 2008. Employees may elect to defer compensation until a specified date or until retirement from service (except that in the case of Merrill Lynch's key employees, such election must be six months following retirement). Employees may elect to receive deferred payments in a lump sum or in up to 15 annual installments.

Once the deferral has been made, deferred amounts are recorded in a notional account maintained by Merrill Lynch. Amounts in the notional account are adjusted upward or downward to reflect the performance of return indexes chosen by the participant.

Merrill Lynch charges executive officer participants an annual fee on deferred amounts to defray the cost of the Plan to the company. As long as an executive officer's deferred amounts remain subject to the Plan, the annual fee will be applied, at the end of each fiscal year, to his or her original deferred amounts. This fee is paid to offset Merrill Lynch's delayed tax deduction with respect to the deferred amounts.

The obligations of Merrill Lynch to pay deferred compensation under the Plan are unsecured general obligations of Merrill Lynch, and will rank equally with other unsecured indebtedness of Merrill Lynch that is outstanding from time to time.

The obligations of Merrill Lynch to pay the deferred compensation participants are registered on an S-8 registration statement filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission on May 12, 2007. The Plan is an exhibit to that Registration Statement.
